

Become a P2p+ Volunteer and help us promote career advisory in monitoring and evaluation

- Are you interested in the areas of Social Economy, Human Development, Sustainability or International Cooperation?
- Are you thinking about the topic of your thesis, and does the evaluation of projects in the social context relate to your options?
- Do you consider an evaluation career, and would you like to have a practical approach to the topic?

THE PROJECT

p2p +
carreira
AVALIADORES
EMERGENTES

The “Peer-to-Peer Advisory Sessions for Young and Emerging Assessors (P2p +)” consists of a series of online meetings, held on a Global scale, where young and emerging assessors can discuss opportunities and challenges in the evaluation career.

P2p + is the result of a partnership between the European Evaluation Society (EES), EvalYout, the United Nations Evaluation Fund (UNFPA), and the International Development Evaluation Association (IDEAS).

This initiative was born out of the growing need for professional guidance in the evaluation of new Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) professionals for projects, programs and public policies.

Did you know that there is a growing demand and several job opportunities for M&A professionals? In this video you can find an explanation about the relevance of M&A and this project.

THE SESSIONS

The aim of the P2p + sessions is to answer questions and answer specific questions about the evaluation career, about basic M&E concepts or to support professional challenges. The format is bottom-up, demand-driven and consists of questions and answers between participants and facilitators.

Online sessions are offered on multilingual session calendars. All calendars can be found on the initiative's website.

HOW CAN I GET INVOLVED?

We are looking for volunteers who can contribute to the success of P2p + sessions, both in your organization and in the production of knowledge from them. This is a possibility of punctual volunteering, in which you will collaborate in one of the sessions.

The idea is to build a group who can take turns in supporting the organization of each session P2p+ and help us synthesize and publish the knowledge created. The number of sessions per person and time involvement will be defined according to the number of volunteers who apply for the program.

You will have the incredible opportunity to approach professionals in the field, get involved with international institutions, and have practical experience in one of your areas of interest.

Some of the tasks include:

Session Organizers

- Disclosure of the session on digital channels;
- Information meeting of invited speakers;
- Preparation and management of the session in the Zoom application (from gathering information from participants, creating a link, inviting and accepting participants);
- Follow-up of the session with the participants.

Content Producers

- Disclosure of the session on digital channels;
- Treatment of questions previously sent by participants;
- Writing notes and sharing with participants;
- Involvement in building a publication to be available to the public.

If this is a project in which you are interested; if organization, cooperation and multi-tasking are indispensable words in your dictionary; if you feel comfortable with tight deadlines; and if you have volunteering experience, or would like to have:
